ABSTRACT

[0038]   One or more information attributes about an object is received. A determination is performed to find out if the one or more information attributes is in contention with geometry attributes of the object. When the one or more information attributes is in contention with the geometry attributes, the geometry attributes are modified to avoid contention with the one or more information attributes.